Oxford Botanic Garden is the UK’s oldest botanic garden, founded in 1621. Building on four centuries of history, our mission is to educate people about the importance of plants, to help conserve them around the world, and to support teaching and research at the University and beyond.

Harcourt Arboretum, just outside Oxford City Centre, has been part of the University of Oxford since 1963. The 130 acres contain the best collection of trees in Oxfordshire with some of the oldest redwoods in the UK.
